DRAMA HONOURS

Rohan Dick, Keys

Nomination for Drama Honours – Achievement

Rohan is a talented actor who recently earned the title of 'triple threat' performer; someone who can act, sing and dance. This is largely due to his outstanding portrayal as the lead character Robbie Hart in the College production of The Wedding Singer. Rohan received much praise and recognition for his performance and proved he has a bright future in the world of acting and musical theatre.

This particular role demanded that Rohan learn 17 musical numbers, six separate dance routines and perform on stage in nearly every scene. Throughout the rehearsal period Rohan conducted himself with professionalism and enthusiasm, working effectively as a team member and humbly asking for feedback, always looking for further ways to ensure his performance was executed to a standard of excellence.

In 2017 Rohan played an integral part of the ensemble in the production of Dunsinane and in 2016 he played the lead role of Lucas Beineke in The Addams Family. He has been an integral part of the Year 12 Dramatic Society, where he assisted in organising and running the Senior and Junior Inter-House Theatre Sports competitions.

Throughout his time at Scotch College, Rohan has produced many outstanding performances, making him a worthy recipient of Honours for achievement in Drama.

Matthia has been a member of the Scotch College Orchestral programme since Grade 1 and has led the cello section over several years. In his final year at the College he has performed with the Philharmonic Orchestra, the Senior Chamber Ensemble and the Combined Symphony Orchestra. Matthia is always ready to assist in music making and will be missed when he leaves the College at the end of this year. We hope that he may come back to assist with sectionals.

Matthia is very talented musician and a deserving recipient of Honours for achievement in Music.

COLOURS – Winter (Part 2) 2018

Jordan Bowling, Ross

Nomination for Music Honours - Service

Jordan has played the violin since the age of five and performed in numerous concerts, including with the WA Youth Strings, Scotch College ensembles and as a soloist in events including the Fremantle Eisteddfod. He auditioned for the WA Youth Orchestra in Years 10, 11 and 12 but has on each occasion declined an invitation due to College sporting commitments. He has taken lessons in classical guitar since the age of 12 and started learning the piano in Year 11. He has been a member of seven College musical ensembles and competed in, and been awarded 'Outstanding', in numerous competitions and festivals.

In 2018 Jordan was elected Captain of Strings. Over many years, he has been an excellent role model for junior players, giving solo performances at sub-school concerts and assisting in Middle School ensembles and performances.

Jordan has received Music Colours twice for his involvement in Ensemble Music and Chamber Music. He has been Concertmaster of the Philharmonic Orchestra and Co-Leader (Associate Concertmaster) of the Combined Symphony Orchestra. He has undertaken the many tasks involved in these roles, led the groups during rehearsals and performances, and set an excellent example of musicianship and leadership.

Jordan is an active member of the Western Australian Music Youth Committee, the main State body responsible for supporting contemporary music in WA. As the only school-age representative on the Council, Jordan has been instrumental in raising the profile of Scotch College in music advocacy for young people.

In addition to his musical work, for the past two years Jordan has volunteered to help the College Events and Venues Coordinator with sound and lighting at senior school assemblies.

Jordan is congratulated on being a recipient of Honours for service to Music.

Kyle Imlah, Keys

Nomination for Music Honours – Service and Achievement

Since joining the Scotch College Music programme, Kyle has fully immersed himself in all available opportunities to perform and develop his skills.

He has been a member of Big Band 2, Big Band 1, Jazz Combo 1, NAIDOC performances, performed in The Wedding Singer and arranged music for several College ensembles. He was selected as Captain of Music as well as co-ordinating many other musical items including NAIDOC performances. Kyle has performed in the WA Schools' Jazz Festival for four years and at the National Stage Band Competition in Mt Gambier during the Generations in Jazz Festival for the last two years. In 2018 he was recognised as an outstanding performer and was nominated for higher honours as a guitarist in the 'Superband' which recognised him as the best guitarist from the 60 bands in his division.

Beyond Scotch College, Kyle successfully auditioned for the guitar chair in the West Australian Youth Jazz Orchestra, which is open to students up to the age of 25. In 2018 he successfully auditioned as a guitarist for the Royal Australian Navy Band, a rare opportunity for a school student. He also auditioned for, and accepted, an invitation to study at the prestigious James Morrison Academy from 2019.

Kyle is a truly inspirational recipient of Honours for service and achievement in Music.

PIPE BAND HONOURS

Ryan Hodgetts, Brisbane

Nomination for Pipe Band Honours – Achievement

Ryan joined the Pipe Band in 2013 and has completed three years in the 'A Team'. To date, he has participated in 108 Pipe Band engagements, including 14 as a soloist; this is one of the two highest efforts in the Pipe Band's history. He has performed as a soloist for numerous VIP's and performed all solos and duets within the Band. Ryan has achieved 100 per cent attendance, which is exceptional for a rehearsal regime of four to five times a week spanning four years.

Ryan's piping is of a very high standard. He would be graded Sub-Intermediate in the Australian Pipe Band College. He performs pieces of advanced time signatures, far exceeding expectation for a member of a school Pipe Band and a precursor for a Grade 2 pipe band or above.

Ryan was appointed Pipe Lance Corporal in 2017 and Pipe Major for 2018 and has provided strong leadership. He is often deferred to for his input on the competence and ability of junior members prior to performances. He is responsible for the flag orderlies and rehearsals. There is no better example of a student taking initiative and mentoring boys within the College's framework of culture and traditions.

Ryan successfully auditioned for the Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo 2018 and the Royal Nova Scotia International Tattoo 2017 and, as such, has performed on the world stage twice; a terrific result for a student. Whilst abroad, he liaised with event management, organised rehearsals and has been an ambassador for the College.

He won the State Pipe Band Championships in the Juvenile and Grade 4 Division in 2017 and in Grade 4 in the Fremantle Championships in 2016 and 2018 in Juvenile. Ryan has also had success at solo level competition.

He attends Year 9 practices and has tutored during his free time. His achievements in the Pipe Band are over and above what is required or expected of a Pipe Major.

Ryan is a most deserving recipient of Honours for achievement in the Pipe Band.

PUBLIC SPEAKING HONOURS

Felix Jones, Brisbane

Nomination for Public Speaking (Debating) Honours - Achievement

Felix has been an active participant in the Western Australian Debating League's Schools' Competition. He and his team have achieved great success, reaching the finals for the past three years. Together they advanced to the Octo-Finals as Year 9s, the Semi-Finals as Year 10s and the Quarter Finals as Year 11s, an incredible achievement, as most students do not develop such skills until Year 12.

Within the Scotch College Firsts team Felix takes either the second or third speaker positions. He confidently delivered his substantive argument to supplement and reinforce his team's argument, passionately delivered rebuttals and challenged the opposition while eloquently strengthening his own team's case. He demonstrated knowledge of all sides of the debate and successfully provided seven minutes of rebuttal, formulated while the debate was occurring, evidencing his aptitude.

Felix also achieved great success in the British Parliamentary debating which requires competitors to present the one most relevant argument, rather than a series of arguments allowing for a change of focus as the debate progresses. In the Seniors Division, Felix and his teammate competed in the 2016 Grand Final, highlighting his ability to rise to the challenge of this new form of debating.

Felix trialled for the Western Australian State School Team in 2017 and 2018. Through showcasing his extensive current affairs knowledge and understanding of the principles and practicalities of the topics debated, he was selected for the 12 student squad in both Year 11 and 12.

Felix has demonstrated consistent high achievement across a variety of different speaker roles and styles of debating and it is for these reasons that he is a worthy recipient of Honours for Achievement in Public Speaking (Debating).

RUGBY HONOURS

Jack Knobel, Ross

Nomination for Rugby Honours – Achievement

Jack's quiet determination and humble character has made him one of the most influential and valuable players in the rugby programme and led to him receiving the rare honour of pulling on a First XV jersey in Year 10; no small feat considering that this team went undefeated throughout that season. Jack's value to the team was well known and he was held in very high regard by his peers, resulting in him being invited into the leadership group as a Year 11. His Year 11 season was outstanding. He was consistent in producing performances that contributed enormously to the season's success and became possibly the best line-out practitioner in the whole PSA competition and one of the greatest line-out disruptors to opposition.

Jack's Year 12 season was outstanding. His consistency was one of his hallmarks, picking up points in the MVP award almost weekly. Jack's greatest attribute is his immense work in 'the tight', a space that most people do not want to occupy. He excels in tough play and changed the outcome of games. Over his three years in the First XV, Jack developed one of the most unbending wills to win of any player in the programme. He was man of the match in the toughest game of the season.

Jack has been a pillar of the programme and a driving force in setting cultural standards. This cannot be understated and he is congratulated on his Honours for achievement in Rugby.

Connor O'Sullivan, Ferguson

(2nd Honours, previously awarded Academic Honours)

Nominations for Rugby Honours – Achievement

Connor pulled on a Rugby 1st XV Number 7 jersey as a Year 10 student. Like Rugby greats, David Pocock and Richie McCaw with whom he shares his number, he performed his role admirably and made the position his own in a team that went on to win the Brother Redmond Cup undefeated.

In Year 11, Connor was selected to join the Leadership group where he helped set standards and expectations within the Rugby environment. He was involved in numerous deliberations surrounding game planning, strategy and review and established himself as an influential player in the PSA. On numerous occasions, he helped carry the team to victory, based on sheer courage, tenacity, skill and determination and was the top try scorer in the PSA.

In Year 12 Connor was outstanding in the role of co-captain of the First XV both on and off the field. His individual performance was outstanding and he could aptly be described as the most fearsome player in the competition. For the second year, he was the top try scorer in the PSA, again from a playing position where tries are infrequently scored.

Connor's pursuit of excellence for himself and the team was relentless and was evident in every training session where, even despite injury.

Alongside his commitment to the Scotch College Rugby programme Connor has represented Western Australia in numerous Rugby Championships and played in several Under 20 and Second Grade games for UWA Rugby Club.

Connor is truly a once in a generation player that has left an incredible impression on the Scotch College Rugby programme and is an extremely worth recipient of Honours for achievement in Rugby.

COLOURS – Winter (Part 2) 2018

Lachlan Phillips, Anderson

Nomination for Rugby Honours – Achievement

In Year 10 Lachlan was one of the rare players who not only made it into the First XV rugby team, but carved out a starting spot of which he took ownership. While on tour, he was awarded 'Best Player on Tour' and his rare talent soon earned him the name of 'The Magician'. In his debut First XV season, Lachlan's performance was outstanding and his brilliance often turned matches on their head, scoring seemingly impossible tries.

In Year 11 Lachlan joined the leadership team. Following an outstanding pre-season he broke his collar bone in the first round. Lachlan worked hard at rehab and attended every training session, contributing wherever possible. Devastatingly, after returning to play, he re-broke his collarbone in the first week of full contact training, ending his hope of finishing the season. Again, he never missed an opportunity to contribute and supported his teammates and attended every training.

As co-captain for the 2018 season, Lachlan's leadership and the example he set have become hallmarks of the team and, in fact, the rugby programme. His season shone with moments of absolute individual brilliance. Like a magician, he often 'pulled a rabbit out of a hat', scoring tries that left the crowd gasping, the opposition grasping at shadows and the coaches with big smiles on their faces. It would be easy to attribute Lachlan's skills to natural ability, however, to do so would undervalue his tireless training and adept decision making skills. His situational awareness and ability to create and identify space is a feature of his game, even against the toughest opposition.

Lachlan's understated and quiet nature belies his fierce determination to win. He is a most worthy recipient of Honours for achievement in Rugby.

SAILING HONOURS

Adam Brenz-Verca, Stuart

Nomination for Sailing Honours – Achievement

Adam has been an exemplary role model within the Scotch sailing team for six years and was appointed Captain for the 2017/2018 summer season. His leadership ability has led to the sustained success of the team and provided the members with opportunities they might otherwise not have had, whilst leading with confidence and precision when required. Adam's inclusive personality has led to the creation of a team which has bonded and matured together while he has carried himself with a level of respect, noted by members across the state yachting community.

Adam's actions speak louder than his words. He has never boasted about his success despite holding an impressive scorecard. He has dominated school sailing at a state level. In the last three years he skippered in the 'first' team, which won the State School Teams Racing Championships in 2016 and 2018. In his races across these seasons, he recorded 42 race wins from 42 starts, competing against over 20 schools. This is the best win/loss ratio of any team and any skipper to have ever competed in the event's 29-year history. At the 2018 Schools Sailing Nationals, Adam led Scotch College to second place, putting him in a class above any other school aged sailor.

Outside of school Adam has been a WAIS training partner from the age of 15. In 2016 and 2018 he was selected to compete in the Warren Jones Youth Regatta, the premier youth match-racing regatta globally.

Adam is a complete package. He is commended for his contribution to his team and the College and is thoroughly deserving of Honours for achievement in Sailing.

HONOURS

Felix Jones, Brisbane

(2nd Honours, previously awarded Honours for Public Speaking)

Nomination for Leadership Honours

Felix has demonstrated a level of leadership worthy of Honours.

As Head of Student Council, Felix has upheld the strong values and traditions of the Council and also implemented new initiatives that have greatly added to the student voice. His organisation and planning has seen events run smoothly, with consistent intent to further refine them.

Most notable amongst the achievements of the Student Council, led by Felix, is the interaction with Maddington Primary School. The Council raised money to take a class of students rock climbing. Felix has maintained involvement with Maddington and, along with the Student Council, organised another significant event taking place this term.

Felix has had a prominent role in public speaking through his involvement in debating, the Australian Philothon and Mock Trials. As Captain of Debating this year, he has mentored junior teams, organised numerous debates and consistently promoted debating and public speaking activities, encouraging fellow students to participate.

Felix has been proactive in leading the discussion on mental health and has actively advocated for the College's wellbeing programme in a friendly, positive and helpful manner.

The efficiency and commitment that Felix has demonstrated in all these areas has been outstanding. This, along with his kind and considerate manner towards both his peers and staff, have ensured his fantastic leadership throughout his years at Scotch College and especially during his final year.

Felix is congratulated on receiving Honours for Leadership.

Jack Knobel, Ross

(2nd Honours, previously awarded Honours for Rugby)

Nomination for Leadership Honours

Jack has displayed an outstanding level of leadership that has earned him the award of Honours.

Jack was elected to the position of Vice Captain of School - Operations by his peers. Throughout his tenure in this role he has significantly changed the manner in which the Staff Trophy is conducted - introducing greater opportunities for student leadership to be demonstrated.

In past years staff have organised and run all of the House activities in the Staff Trophy. Jack worked closely with senior staff members and House Vice Captains of Operations to update this process. He delegated to his peers and this resulted in senior students developing fixtures, sending out updates and working with staff to ensure the Staff Trophy events were a success.

Jack has been extremely efficient in gathering results and ensuring that tables were kept up to date at all times; his efficiency in this area has been of a notably high standard.

Jack has been a significant contributor in numerous areas around the school. Whilst this is incredibly important and valued it has been the cultural change that he has made to the Staff Trophy, with his vision to create greater leadership opportunities for his peers, that sees Jack a very worthy recipient of Leadership Honours.
